AMR case study

02-16-2008

AMR – The TPARC report for April 26, 2007 pointed out that the stock was "very close to a downside breakout" and that it had suffered an "overly large pullback." A broadening top did form and the stock has been trending down since the TPARC report was prepared. From peak to trough AMR lost over 50% of its value and remains in a downtrend.
