

Technical Perspectives on Analyst's Rating Changes

DHI – case study
02-23-2008

DHI – The TPARC report for June 6, 2006 called attention to a major top that had formed on DHI and that the stock was trending down. The stock had already declined substantially from its recent high at the time of the TPARC report. The stock tried to base in late 2006 into 2007 but the support failed and the stock trended lower. The 45-degree Bearish Resistance Line held the stock in its downtrend. The stock has performed poorly since the TPARC report.

W Clay Allen CFA

