

Technical Perspectives on Analyst's Rating Changes

DNR – case study
03-02-2008

DNR – The chart on the right has been adjusted for two 2-for-1 splits that have been paid since the TPARC report was issued. The TPARC report from September 29, 2005 characterized the stock as having "excellent long-term performance" and that there were "no signs of a top." The up trend has continued unabated over the past two plus years and the stock has almost tripled in value over that time. It has consistently remained above the 45-degree Bullish Support Line throughout the move up.
