EOG – case study
02-23-2008

EOG – The TPARC report indicated that EOG was attempting a major reversal of trend and that it had broken out above the 45-degree Bearish Resistance Line. The stock did some backing and filling after the TPARC report was sent out but the support held and after a while the uptrend got underway. The stock has performed well after mid-year 2007 and it is up about a third from the price shown on the TPARC report.
