FLS – case study
03-02-2008

FLS – The TPARC report from February 15, 2006 indicated that FLS was in a strong uptrend that there were no signs of a top and that it was performing well. The strong upside performance has continued although there have been two significant corrections. The stock has remained above the 45-degree Bullish Support Line throughout the move up. This stock has more than doubled in value since the report was issued.
