MOGN – case study
03-01-2008

MOGN – MOGN was covered in a TPARC report on July 19, 2007 and the technical perspective indicated that the stock had formed a major base and was very close to an upside breakout. A major reversal occurred shortly thereafter and a new major up trend began. As it turned out, the stock later was a buyout. The stock enjoyed a major move up from the base and a significant gain was realized. This case study replaces the previous case study from February of 2007.
