SCSS case study

08-10-2008

SCSS – The TPARC report from February 8, 2007 called attention to the major top that had formed and that the stock offered only "limited upside potential." This major top preceded a major decline in the stock as it dropped from almost $19 per share to under $2 per share. There were no meaningful attempts to rally during this decline and the stock has performed quite poorly.
